

Control, classify and organize your company's critical electronic content in SharePoint.

BACKGROUND

Metadata is the key to finding and organizing the right information across your organization. It enables users to quickly control, identify, reuse and organize valuable information directly in SharePoint. The traditional metadata indexing process, however, is very time-consuming and error-prone. Reports show that most modern enterprises are seeking a new way to improve this business process.

SharePointBoost Classifier drives employees' productivity by providing an intelligent and dynamic metadata indexing system, which ensures unstructured information can be properly managed and classified. Moreover, thanks to its easy to use interface, even first-time SharePoint users can quickly get started.
